

Level 3 National Extended Diploma Uniformed Protective Services

Why study this course at Cronton Sixth Form?

If you see your future working in the Uniformed Protected Services, then this exciting two-year course is an ideal foundation on which to build your chosen career. Whether it be gaining employment in the Police Service, Fire Service, Armed Forces (The Army, Navy, Royal Marines, RAF) Prison Service, Central Government, Customs and Excise, The NHS, Local Councils or the voluntary and charitable sector.

Alternatively, you may wish to go to university first to gain a degree before gaining entry to a public service on a graduate scheme. If this is the case, the Level 3 Extended Diploma (which is equivalent to three 'A' Levels) will give you the qualification you need to progress onto Higher Education. Many students each year choose to go to university to study degrees in Criminology, Psychology, Criminal Justice, Outdoor Pursuits, and Leadership in Police or Fire service studies.

During the course, you will gain a range of knowledge and skills from theoretical and practical study. You will develop key team working, leadership and problem-solving skills and you will be continually assessed over the two years through a variety of assessment methods. You will improve your fitness levels and will benefit from exciting trips and visiting speakers. Our expert Public Services tutors will encourage you exceed your expectations and move a step closer to your ideal career.

What will I study?

Students studying these qualifications will cover a broad range of subjects across the sector of both the Uniformed Protected Services and Public Services industries such as Emergency Services, Armed Services, Local Authority, Custodial Services, the Criminal Justice sector as well as Voluntary and Charitable Organisations.

Learners will benefit from a large selection of Industry based employees coming to visit the college to speak to students and engage them in related activities.

Learners will participate in a variety of both land and water-based activities including walking in Wales, Yorkshire and Cheshire, Mountain Biking, BMX biking, as well as local bouldering, climbing, kayaking and raft building. In the final term learners will take part in three-day expedition up in the Lake District being assessed on map reading and compass work, camp craft, teamwork and leadership as well as improving their fitness levels. Students will experience a wide variety of volunteering opportunities and benefit from our invaluable links with local and national public services. Visits from guest speakers will enhance their learning and future career opportunities.

How will I be assessed?

Coursework, Group Seminars, Professional Discussions, Practical Delivery and EXAMS are some of the assessment's methods used to achieve the qualification modules.

Areas of study include:

Unit 13: Introduction to Criminology
Unit 5: Teamwork, Leadership and Communication in the Uniformed Protected Services
