

OUR LABOUR MARKET

HALTON

HALTON LABOUR MARKET

The Halton labour market, is extremely competitive in terms of employment, the most common trends in the employment areas are:

- Advanced Manufacturing
- Logistics & Warehousing
- Construction Trades
- Health Care
- Digital & IT
- Business Administration

We are seeing growth in areas such as Digital, Engineering and Constructions Skills.

SKILL SHORTAGES

Although we are directly linked to Liverpool City Region and the number of employment opportunities are high. Halton believe we have skill shortages in the following areas employment areas:

- Health & Social Care
- Engineering
- Construction

If this because there isn't enough roles or not enough qualified employees?

Could this information help you with your educational choices?

APPRENTICESHIPS TRENDS

National Apprenticeship Starts increased over the last academic year. They increase 8.7% in England with the following trends around Halton –

Higher & Degree Apprenticeships opportunities continue to grow fast, this could give clear pathways following on from your educational studies.

Construction & Business Apprenticeships are the most common opportunities around the area.

Local employers such as Halton Housing and Halton Borough Council remain a driving force behind recruitment of apprentices in the local area.

CHALLENGES YOU MAY FACE

The employment market around our area is extremely competitive and you may face challenges when you are seeking your first or next opportunity. There is:

- Very high competition for entry level jobs.
- Employers have limited capacity to train apprentices.

However, you can increase your chances by, creating a strong CV, up skilling employability skills and networking yourself!

This is something the ACE Team can support you with.

ANY QUESTIONS?

THANK YOU, THE ACE TEAM